

Outreach Online Meetings Links

Online NA sites can play an important part in our recovery: when we are at a distance from face to face meetings, when we are disabled in some way, when we have young children, when we want to know what NA is all about! We can connect with other recovering addicts by way of message boards and recovery chat rooms and online meetings. Many addicts use these facilities.

This is a link to the NA World Services website Online Meetings Directory

You can also go to the NA World Services website directly at www.na.org and explore there too. World regions, areas and meetings are listed, as well as interesting aspects of recovery, including a discussion forum and NA literature.
